

Welcome to Challengermode!

We'll go through the process of signing up to Challengermode, after you've done this you'll have access to the Challengermode arena where you can find daily tournaments, national leagues and communities run by your favourite teams and organisations!

Challengermode landing page

When you arrive at <https://www.challengermode.com> for the first time, this will be the first thing you see.

To sign up, you can click either of the two Sign Up Free buttons.

If you have been to Challengermode recently, you will be presented with a different landing page - rest assured however, the Sign Up Free button will always be located in the upper right corner as long as you are not logged into a Challengermode Account.

To get started, click Sign Up Free.

Making a team

When you have signed up to Challengermode, it's now time to make your team. Look at the top bar of Challengermode, to the left of your profile picture. There you will find a plus sign, press this and then select "team".

When you've selected a team name, now it's time to add your team mates. Search for them by username in the window that comes up:

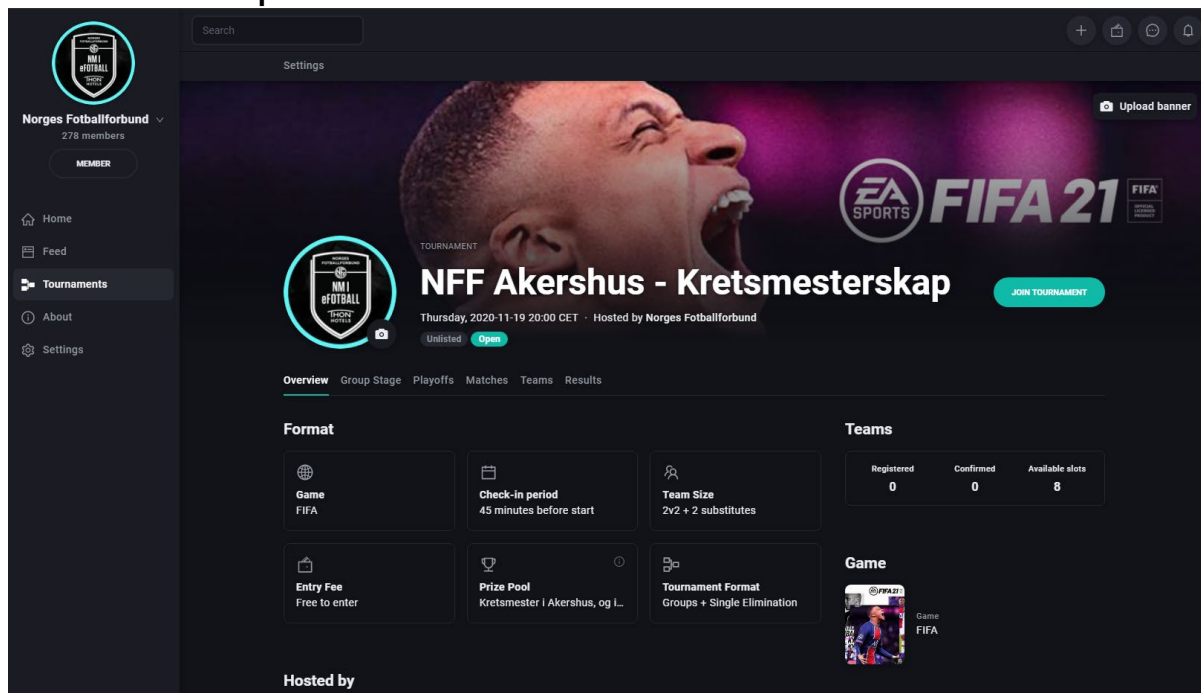

When your teammates have accepted their invitations, it's time to join the tournament.

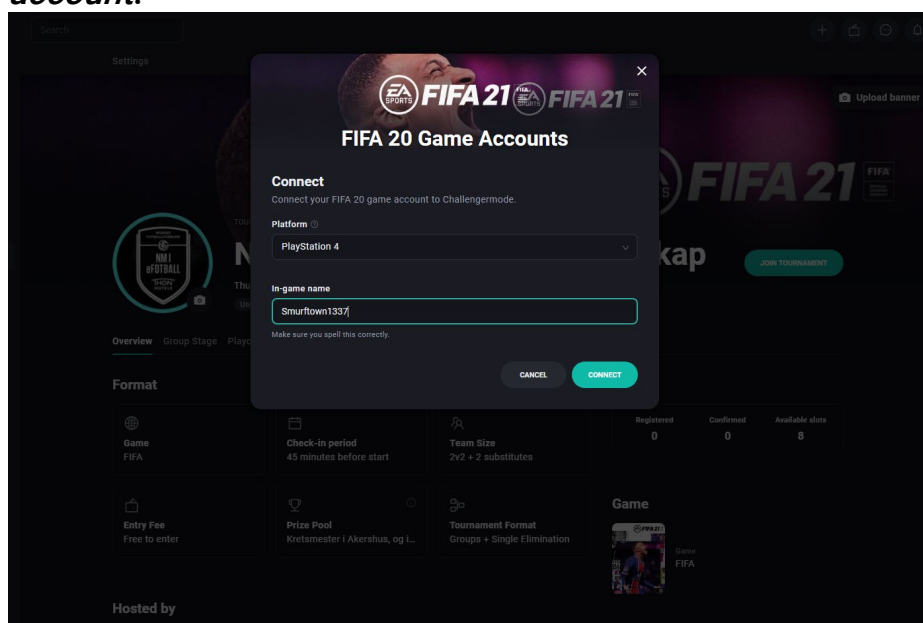

Joining the tournament

The next step is to go to the tournament page that you have been provided by NFF Staff. Each of the tournament pages will look rather similar in the Overview, but have their region displayed in the tournament name. You will each be sent a link by the NFF staff that displays your specific tournament.

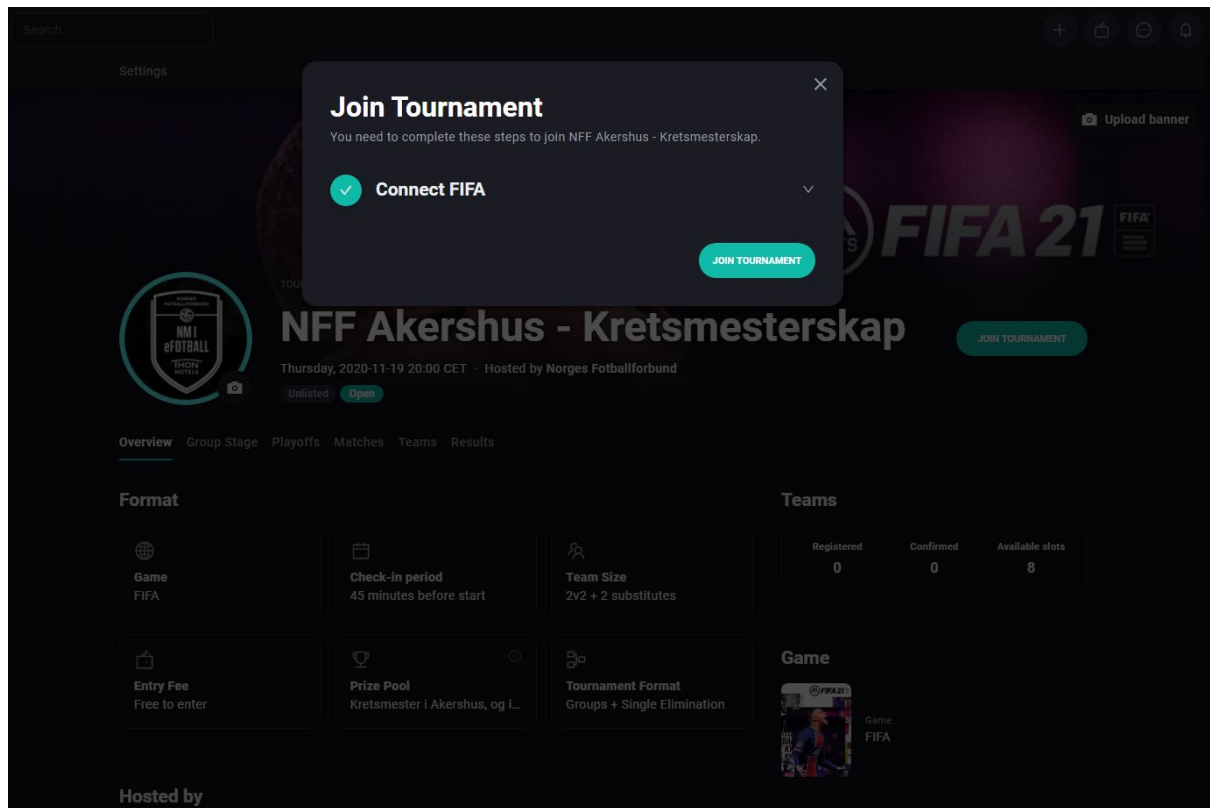

Here is an example tournament overview:

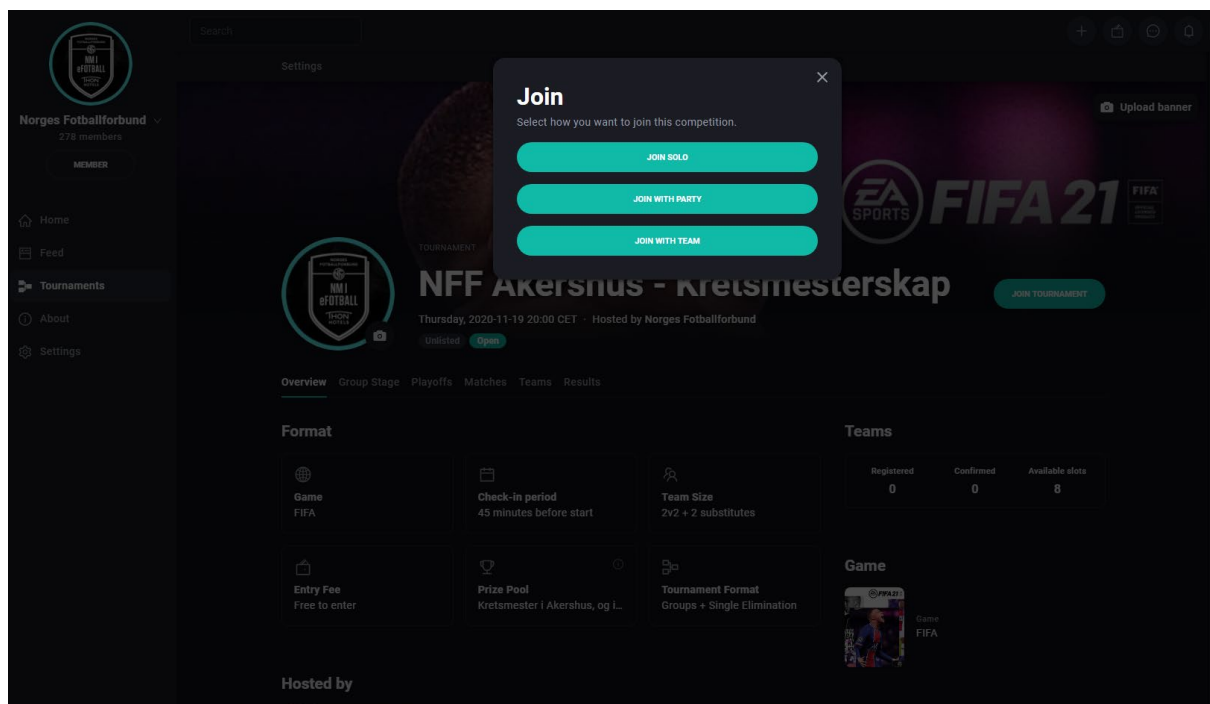

When you get the link to join your tournament, please press the “join tournament” button that you see in the right corner of the banner. When doing this for the first time, you will be prompted to add your PSN ID as a game account.

When this is complete, you can now join the tournament!

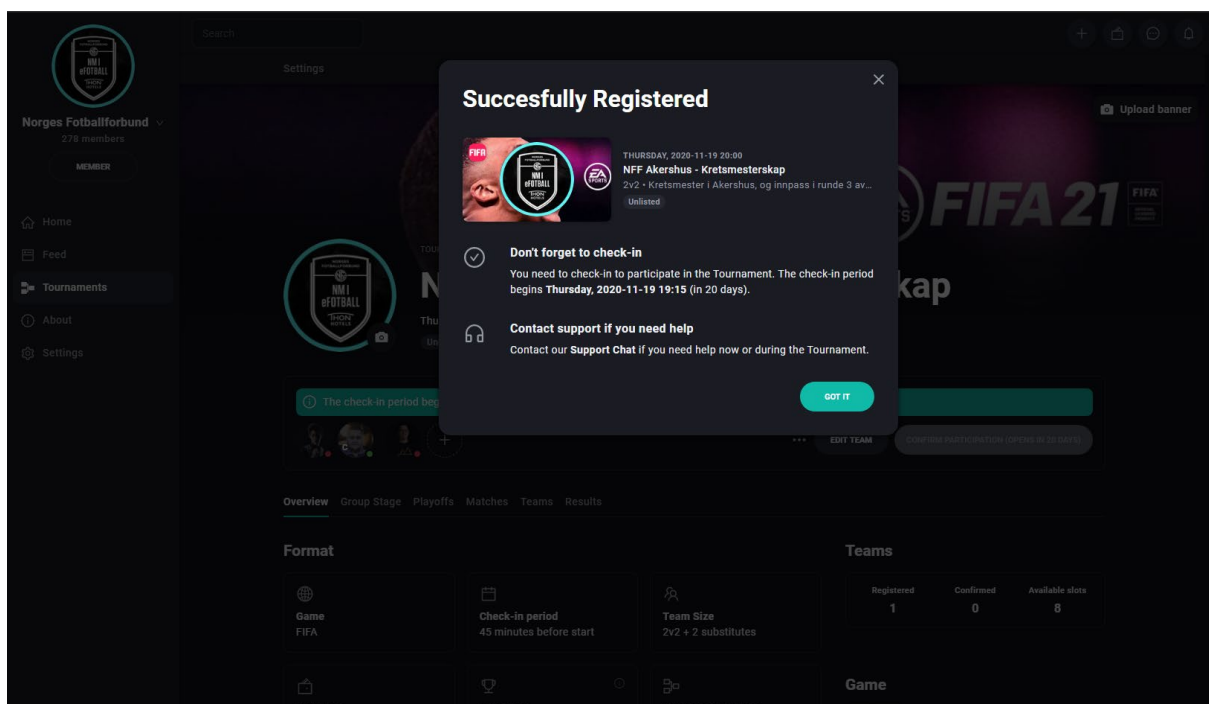

Select to join with a team and pick your NFF regional team:

Then press join – and you're good to go!

Good luck and have fun on Challengermode!
